United Way tops ... $1,000,000

GRANITE CITY — The million-dollar fund-raising goal for 1990 has been exceeded by the Tri-Cities Area United Way. Pledges totaling $1,038,000 have been received to date, Campaign Chairman Jack Lee announced at a breakfast this morning at the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

Lee, presenting the drive's final report, said the 1990 campaign exceeded by $23,000 the goal of $1,015,000 established at the kickoff in September.

The 1990 goal was the largest ever set by the Tri-Cities Area United Way. "Raising a million dollars in a community our size is phenomenal," Lee said. "This says so much about the caring nature of the people who live and work in the area."

"The campaign total is not final," said Janet Quanton, executive director of the United Way. "We are still waiting for responses from several contributors who have provided support in the past."

Quanton said United Way allocations volunteers will meet next week to determine recommendations for 1991 funding levels to service providers.

In 1990, she said, 23 agencies and more than 70 health and human care programs were the recipients of funds from the Tri-Cities Area United Way.

More than 100 volunteers and participants attended the breakfast meeting.

Election Many races on ballot

By Bill Winter
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — With balloting scheduled at 219 locations from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. next Tuesday, Madison County voters are preparing to help decide dozens of offices and tax proposals.

There will be 36 voting precincts in Granite City, 12 in Nameoki Township, 11 in Venice Township (Venice-Madison area) and seven in Chouteau Township.

Offices to be filled include: "U.S. senator, Paul Simon, Democratic incumbent, vs. Lynn Martin, Republican challenger. "Governor, Neil P. Hartigan (D) vs. Jim Edgar (R).

"U.S. representative, Jerry F. Costello, (D) incumbent, vs. Robert H. Gaffney (R). "State senator, Sam M. Vadalabene, (D) incumbent, vs. Wal-ly Gorski (R).

"County treasurer, Michael "Mick" Henkhaus, (D) incumbent, vs. John Shimkus (R).

There also is interest in such races as: secretary of state, Jerry Cosentino (D) vs. George H. Ryan (R); attorney general, Roland W. Burris (D) vs. Jim Ryan (R); state treasurer, Patrick Quinn (D) vs. Greg Baise (R); and state comptroller, Dawn Clark Netter (D) vs. Sue Suter (R).

Rival lieutenant governor candidates are James B. Burns (D) and Bob Kustra (R), paired with the two nominees for governor. (See ELECTION, Page 10A)

Madison annexes race track

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

MADISON — Following up on similar actions of the last several weeks, the Madison City Council annexed parts of Gateway International Raceway Tuesday evening.

The portions annexed include the main concession area and the starting line of the auto racing track. The total area brought into the city is 23.36 acres.

Two ordinances were passed in response to petitions brought to the council by Helen M. Bergfeld, sole owner of the properties annexed. The territory was zoned B-3, Planned Business District.

Gateway speedway leases its property from several owners. City Attorney Casper Nighohossian said the city anticipates speaking with the other owners over the possibility of more annexation.

Police Chief Charlie Bridick said he did not anticipate any additional burden to the police department. He related that a recent shift rescheduling would allow an extra patrolman in the area during the night shift, when most activity is taking place.

He also expects that the Illinois State Police and the Stages night club security staff will continue to police the area, located south of the main area of Madison.

In previous weeks, Madison has annexed more than 400 acres of property, mainly along the Route 263 corridor.

Also on Tuesday evening, the council approved expenditure of $18,230 for equipment to be used when the 911 emergency-service telephone line begins operating.

A new computer purchase, requested by Bridick, was also approved. Fire Chief Robert Robison received permission to seek bids in the sale of excess equipment, and to advertise for bids for a new fire-rescue truck. The city currently uses a 1958 model rescue truck.

Warriors to state (again)

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — The Warrior soccer team will be making its 14th trip to the state tournament this weekend.

Granite City (23-1) beat Collinsville 1-0 on Tuesday in the Granite City Super-Sectional at the Gauntlet. Senior Skip Birdsong headed in a crossing pass from sophomore Brent Dippel with just 40 seconds left in the first half for the only goal.

The Warriors have won 18 of their last 20 games and scored in a row. Tuesday's win marked the second year in a row they have knocked off Collinsville (14-6-2) by the same 1-0 score to advance to state. It's also the eighth time in 10 meetings

Granite City has beaten the Kahoks with a state final berth at stake.

Naperville North (19-2-5) will be the Warriors' quarterfinal opponent at 7:30 p.m. Friday in St. Charles, a southwest Chicago suburb. If the Warriors win that game, they will play in the semi-finals at 11:30 a.m. Saturday. The third place game is at 5 p.m. Saturday, followed by the championship game at 7 p.m.

Gene Baker's team is shooting for its 10th state title in 19 years. The Warriors were coached by John Sellmeyer when they won the first-ever state tournament in 1972. Baker coached them to championship in 1978-80, 1982, 1987 and 1989.

More details on Tuesday's win and a preview of the state finals can be found on Page 1B.

Gas line ruptures

GRANITE CITY — Firefighters responded to a call reporting a broken natural gas line at a residential building at the rear of 2720 Iowa St. at 11:42 a.m. Wednesday.

Firemen first shut off the gas line and then ventilated the building. There was no one home at the time.

Emergency vehicles blocked off the area for about a half-hour and gas could be smelled throughout the neighborhood.

The resident of the building, Dennis W. Russell, accidentally struck the gas line with his auto, firefighters said. The building is owned by Dave Moser of Granite City.

Sheriff fuming over county jail budget

By David Migoya
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Madison County Sheriff Bob Churchill is fuming over a 1 percent increase recommended by the county board's Finance Committee for the county jail budget.

The sheriff asked for a jail budget of $1.45 million for the fiscal year beginning Dec. 1. The committee is expected to recommend $1.37 million.

The $120,000 increase is intended to cover rising costs of food and supplies at the jail, Churchill said. "The costs have gone sky high and they're not making any type of (adequate) adjustment in our budget."

Records for the jail show Churchill already is at least $40,000 over his 1989-90 budget of $1.36 million as of Oct. 1.

The key cause, Churchill maintains, is an increase in the number of jail inmates. The 1989-90 budget, he said, was based on a daily average of 100 inmates.

This week, the jail was housing an average of 135 inmates per day. Along with food and supplies, skyrocketing costs for medical services, service contracts, and water and sewer service make it clear that the new budget won't meet the jail's needs, as the sheriff sees it.

"If I get 50 prisoners (a day average) next year, then I'll be in the black," Churchill said. "But this morning when I came in (Monday), I had more than 130."

According to Churchill, Madison County taxpayers should be happy they don't have to foot the actual per-day cost the state says it takes to house an inmate.

"The state says it costs $55 a day to house an inmate. If the taxpayer got a bill from me, it would be $1 million more than what the county gives me."

Financial records show that, as of Oct. 1, Churchill is about $18,000 over the budget for medical services, $10,000 over for food and supplies, and about $12,000 over for electricity.

Churchill points to several unforeseeable expenses that have added to the crunch. Two inmates have received ongoing treatment for AIDS, several inmates been treated for hepatitis, two inmates attempted suicide by swallowing razor blades and three were on kidney dialysis.

"The jail budget is so unpredictable," he said. "We even had to pay when a pregnant inmate gave birth."

"If those two guys are working more, we have to be working more," he said. "It's a 'Three-Stooge' type operation. One goes with the other."

Haine's office is expected to receive a $75,652 increase. Rekowski's office is expected to receive a $40,192 increase.

Although the county tried to peg the total budget at $66.5 million, wage and health insurance increases pushed the number closer to $73.5 million.

Finance Committee Chairman William

Little, D-Alton, has said no property tax increases would be imposed.

Churchill said the current situation is a sign of things to come. He points toward the bare steel beams being erected for the new county administration building as the cause.

"My budget is the tip of the iceberg," he said. "Each year it will get worse because monies allocated to the general fund will get less and less because of that building."

"I don't need to pay for that building out of the jail fund."

The $6.9 million earmarked for the administration building consists of bond funds already raised and aren't included in the property tax levy, officials said.

The general fund operating budget for 1990-91 is expected to be $17.54 million. The current year's general fund operating budget is $16.78 million.

The county board will vote on the yearly budget later this month.

Trivia

What is the proper name for Lakeside Airport?

See Page 10A

Formation of airport authority to be on ballot

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The idea of expanding and adding new facilities at Lakeside Airport has little or no opposition.

So the question before the voters of Granite City, Collinsville, Pontoon Beach and Nameoki Township is whether they want to create a new taxing body to finance the expansion.

The new private airfield, located across from Horseshoe Lake State Park on Illinois 111 near State Park 35, has both the land and the air rights needed to build a regional airport. What is lacking is money to build it.

An apparent solution, the one on the ballot, is creation of an airport authority. The authority would have the power to levy taxes, with the maximum rate established by state law.

Morris B. Chapman, a Granite City attorney who was instrumental in getting the issue on the ballot, admits the idea of a new tax is a down side to the issue.

"It's my experience that taxing bodies tax at the maximum rate," Chapman said. "Still, we're not talking about that much money."

The maximum rate would have a multiplier of .000075 of assessed valuation. Therefore, a person owning a $70,000 house, assessed at one-third of its value (approximately $23,000), would pay just under $1.75 additional property tax if the authority chose to tax at the maximum rate.

Several times during the past 10 years, Collinsville and Granite City have looked into developing the airport, both separately and together, but found it was beyond their capabilities.

Both cities were in the process of negotiating with the owner of the airfield, Bill Nichols, when he died in August 1989. Both the land and air rights remain in his estate, which has said it is willing to sell both to an airport authority.

If created, the airport authority, made up of members appointed by the mayors or supervisors of the municipalities and townships, would then be eligible for both federal and state grants.

According to the Division of Aeronautics of the Illinois Department of Transportation, those grants would pay for 90 percent of initial costs of the airport, including buying the land and expanding the airstrip.

The airport plan calls for the authority to purchase the present airfield and enough adjacent land to create a regional airport with two runways, each between 4,500 and 5,000 feet in length.

The Collinsville City Council, Granite City Council and Pontoon Beach Board of Trustees have all passed resolutions supporting creation of the airport authority.

A number of other groups, including the Collinsville Convention and Visitors Bureau, the Granite City Ambassadors and the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, have formally backed the proposal.

The question, as it appears on th ballot, is: "Shall an act in relation to airport authorities effective July 1, 1991, as amended be adopted and the Lakeside Airport Authority be established?"

"If established, said airport authority will have the powers, objects, and purposes provided by this act, including the power to levy any tax authorized by this act for airport operation and maintenance and other corporate purposes and power to issue tax secured bonds."

The measure requires a simple majority throughout the airport territory of all voters to pass.

Library seeks part of Chouteau

By Bob Stack
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Public Library District will seek to annex portions of Chouteau Township Precincts 1 and 4 into the district by means of a referendum on the Nov. 6 ballot.

According to Bob Stack, director of the library, the purpose of the annexation is to service as much of Community Unit School District 9 as possible.

The area to be annexed consists of the portions of Chouteau 1 and 4 which are within District 9 but outside the village of Pontoon Beach.

In an election earlier this year, voters in Precinct 1 voted to be included in the library district. Precinct 4 voters decided, in a close vote, not to be included, but those decisions were moot, as the library district did not have contiguous boundaries with the area, Stack said.

A number of Granite City students cannot get free public library cards because they reside outside the library district, families have noted.

Stack said some resistance to the annexation has been expressed, but he said this apparently is due mostly to misinformation. He said some residents of the Mitchell area have speculated that the annexation was sought to relieve the library district of debt, but the district is not in debt.

The Granite City Library District is a taxing body, having been separated by voters on March 20 from its previous status as a part of the city government. Other opponents of the annexation say there are already many taxing bodies in the area, and the property tax total tends to rise.

Proponents of annexation say the library is a bargain because of the many services it provides to children and adults.

The library district is governed by a board of nine members from the municipal library. In the April 2 election next year, a new board of seven at-large members will be chosen from throughout the territory served by the district.

Program places Children First

EDWARDSVILLE — The shower of gifts for Jill has stopped.

Jill, not her real name, is 2. Her mother and father are getting a divorce.

Her father "would buy her some new clothes," her mother said. "Then Mom and I would buy her a toy. Then her father would buy an even bigger toy. After a while, she had more toys and more clothes than you would believe."

The mother said it never occurred to her that the gift-giving duels might be harmful to Jill. That is, not until she attended a new counseling program that is mandatory for divorcing parents in Madison and Bond counties.

According to the program, gift-buying one-upmanship can teach children how to manipulate parents against each other, not to mention being costly.

"It's still happening, but not as much," the mother said. Participants are giving generally high marks to the counseling program, according to its coordinator.

More than 450 parents have participated in the program, operated by Hoyleton Youth and Family Services, since it began June 25.

Some lawyers, however, question the program's mandatory nature and its ability to change people's behavior.

The Children First program is intended to help parents minimize the negative impact of divorce on children.

The program involves two sessions focusing on videos that demonstrate how children can be harmed by parental conflicts. Each parent pays a fee ranging from $10 to $100, depending on ability to pay.

"The people going through the sessions are very pleased," program coordinator Nancy Gaines said.

Many participants have complained that the two-hour sessions aren't long enough, and many have asked for further counseling for themselves and their children, she said.

Few have reacted negatively, Gaines said.

Jill's mother, 21, was a recent participant in the program.

"Maybe everyone should have to go, but I question whether we should pay for it," she said. But she added that the $44 she paid was money well-spent.

"I thought it was really good," she said. "I don't want to say we might be doing which might hurt children."

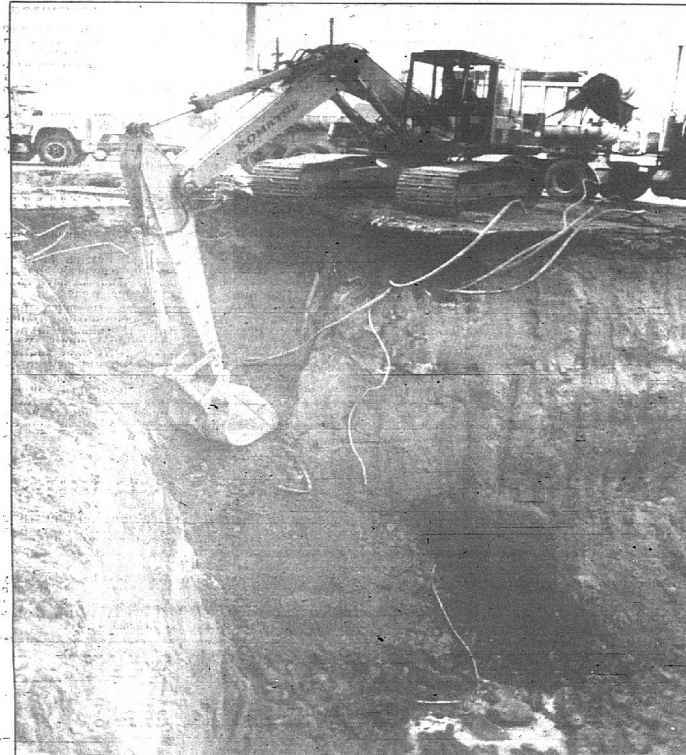

Her ex-husband also reacted favorably, she said.

The videos also depict situations where parents try to pry information from children about their ex-spouses and parents quarreling. Such episodes cause children to blame themselves, she said.

"The overall idea is great," Edwarsville lawyer David Fahrenkamp said. "People need to be aware of the pitfalls with children."

But he said the test of the program will be whether it reduces post-divorce wrangling over custody, visitation and other matters involving children.

In St. Clair County, where Children First has been operating for several years, some say that has happened.

IT'S A LONG WAY DOWN: Gasoline storage tanks are removed by Bruce Trucking and Excavating of Granite City from the O'Brien Service Center early this week and a 19-foot hole is what was left. The hole will be filled in with "clean" dirt and then repaved. O'Brien, located at the corner of Pontoon Road and Nameoki Road, is moving from the gasoline business into specializing in automotive tires and service.

Park ID program available

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Park District will have two special ID sessions on Nov. 3 and 13. The Nov. 3 session will be from 9:30 a.m. to noon and the Nov. 13 session will be from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The identification pictures will be made in the Wilson Park Office.

Proof of residence in the Park District must be presented at the time of purchase. The cost is $3.

Cocaine charges filed

Venice

Drug, gun arrests made

A routine traffic stop for a defective license plate light Oct. 25 resulted in felony charges against two St. Louis men. Ronald F. Jenkins, 45, and Lawrence E. Lewis, 48, were each charged with possession of cocaine with intent to deliver, a class X felony.

A white rocky substance, later verified as cocaine, was allegedly found in the vehicle. Police estimated the amount of cocaine at 120 grams. Bonds were set at $100,000.

Venice police stopped Ronald Coleman, 20, and Cortez Chamberlain, 21, both of East St. Louis, Oct. 26 for a faulty license registration light. A subsequent search of the vehicle allegedly revealed a .25 caliber handgun and a brown pill bottle containing a white substance later found to be cocaine. Coleman was charged with a felony count of possession of a controlled substance and a misdemeanor charge of unlawful use of a weapon. He was released after posting $20,000 bond. A brown, leafy substance later found to be cannabis was allegedly found on Chamberlain's person. He was charged with unlawful possession of cannabis, estimated at under five grams. Chamberlain was held in Venice pending release on bond.

Barbara Greenman of the 2500 block of Iowa Street reported that after 11:30 p.m. Oct. 29, one of her cars was discovered written on the passenger side of her auto. The car was parked in front of her home. Jennifer Connolly, also of the 2500 block of Iowa, said obscenities were discovered written on her van while it was parked on the street the same evening.

Derrek A. Brown of the 300 block of Weaver Street in Venice reported that ten $100 bills were stolen from his motel room at the Granite City Lodge between 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. Oct. 27. The cash was in a grey lock-box, which was also taken.

Scientists rebuke quake prediction

The chance of an earthquake on the New Madrid Fault on Dec. 2 or 3 is one in 23,000, scientists said.

Instead of bracing for a quake on or about Dec. 3, a panel of earthquake experts said, local officials should develop long-range plans.

"People need to be prepared tomorrow, the day after tomorrow and next year," said Jerry Hauer, chairman of the Central United States Earthquake Consortium.

Schools shouldn't be closed Dec. 2 and 3, said Robert Weson, earthquake chief for the U.S. Geological Survey.

"If I were a school official, I'd want to look at how well the schools are constructed, in case there is an earthquake next week or next year," he said.

Weson's remarks came recently as a panel of scientists released a report criticizing New Mexico climatologist Iben Browning's prediction of a quake Dec. 3 on the New Madrid fault.

Browning has predicted a 6.0-5.0 chance of a tremor measuring between 6.5 and 7.5 on the Richter scale on the fault.

"We all reject the idea that the probability is anywhere near that high," said Arch C. Johnston, director of the center for earth research at Memphis State University.

Nine school districts in Missouri, one in Kentucky and at least four in Arkansas have canceled school Dec. 2 and 3.

"There is just too much anxiety for one specific date," Hauer said. Officials should launch broad educational efforts, Weson urged. Fire and police departments should coordinate plans, he said.

The panel used tidal studies, newspaper articles, a videotaped interview, letters from Browning and telephone conversations with him to study his prediction.

MADD to offer Christmas tree tags

Free tie on tags to be used by Christmas tree vendors will be available from the Illinois Traffic Safety Leaders and MADD Illinois.

One side of the tag reads: "Help Keep The Holidays Joyous, Please, Do Not Drink and Drive!"

The reverse side of the tags have been left blank for the price of the tree. Each tag is weather-proof and has a wire tie.

This is the fourth year that the tags have been distributed and the first year that MADD Illinois has joined in the distribution.

The project is being done in Illinois to call attention to the

Elect Edgar as governor

Jim Edgar, Illinois secretary of state for the past 10 years, is the best choice for governor in the Nov. 6 election.

The Republican nominee, endorsed by retiring Gov. James Thompson, would continue most present state services but also would work innovatively for greater economy and efficiency. His stand on funding for schools and other essential programs is sound; his opponent's budget approach — focusing on lofty promises to cut state budgets — could cripple many agencies.

Edgar has served ably in improving library services and facilities, successfully seeking required auto liability insurance, and fighting adult illiteracy, auto thefts, traffic deaths and drunken driving. His leadership, character and governmental knowledge can serve Illinoisans well in the state's top administrative office.

Quinn for state treasurer

Patrick Quinn, surprise winner in the 1990 Democratic primary, deserves to be the next state treasurer.

Always a maverick regarding government and politics, Quinn can be counted on to scrutinize state spending and policies to make sure citizens are getting their money's worth. State operations will be a little more exciting with him as treasurer, but we don't think basic processes will grind to a halt.

Calling Illinois first in the nation in corporate tax breaks but 49th in new-job formation, Quinn would offer low-interest loans to small businesses that agree to create jobs. He also would seek to improve investment of public deposits and pension dollars, promote affordable housing, and encourage financial institutions to lower their service charges on consumers.

Quinn also proposes to seek reform of the state tax structure, with the intent to focus more on ability to pay. Through the restructuring, he would try to help average wage-earners, senior citizens, and families with children.

Costello for another term

U.S. Rep. Jerry F. Costello, Belleville Democrat, has worked hard for the 21st District since being elected in the summer of 1988 to succeed the late Melvin Price.

Formerly St. Clair County Board chairman and East-West Gateway Coordinating Council president, Costello is well-informed about this region's needs and goals. He has made headway in securing a new Clark Bridge in the Alton area and has aided the Metro Link light-rail system, joint civilian-military use of Scott Air Force Base, extension of the Gateway Arch park area, to the Illinois riverfront, and construction of a Bond County federal prison.

Keeping in close touch with taxpayers through dozens of town meetings, Costello has shown the energy and ability to be an effective congressman. He deserves to be re-elected.

Re-elect Sen. Vadalabene

A veteran of 24 years in the General Assembly, "Senator Sam" Vadalabene, Edwardsville Democrat, still is able to accomplish much for the 56th District despite health problems in recent years. Chairman of the Committee on Executive Appointments, Administration and Veterans Affairs, he is the Senate majority caucus chairman.

His knowledge of the legislative process and his rapport with fellow lawmakers have made him one of the most effective senators in Illinois history. He has ably worked both sides of the partisan fence to make progress happen at home.

The list of laws and projects he has sponsored is almost endless, including emphasis on economic development, education and health care. We strongly support his bid for another four-year term.

Re-elect county treasurer

We favor a fourth term as Madison County treasurer for Michael "Mick" Henkhaus, a Bethalto Democrat.

In recent years he has helped speed up distribution of tax receipts to local governmental agencies. He has his faults, but his knowledge makes him the better choice of the two contenders.

Establish airport authority

Granite City, Pontoon Beach, Nameoki Township and Collinsville voters have the opportunity Tuesday to create the Lakeside Airport Authority to assure continuation of the local airport and to improve its facilities and usefulness.

The small individual taxation involved is outweighed by the airport's potential to stimulate jobs and economic progress. A thriving airport at this site would be of great convenience to many residing in or visiting the bi-state metropolitan area and could generate a higher level of prosperity here.

Cast your vote on Nov. 6

Some candidates are unopposed in the general election on Tuesday, Nov. 6. But there also are many contests; as well as a variety of ballot proposals to be decided. All voters should make it a point to participate.

A few additional voting suggestions follow.

U.S. senator: Paul Simon, Democrat.

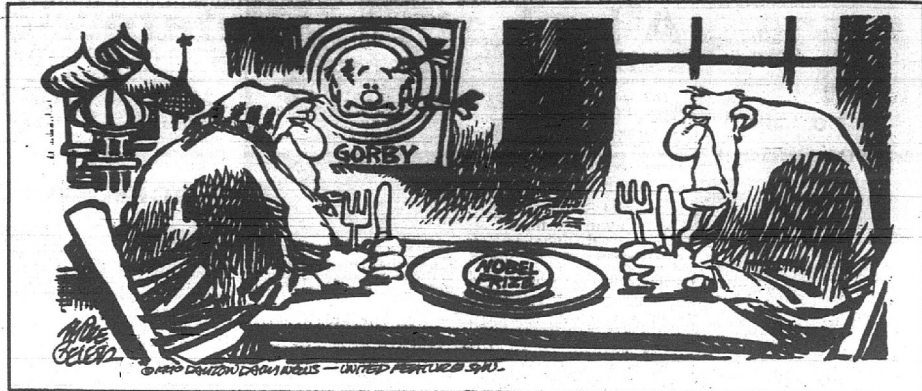

State constitutional amendment to shorten the delinquent-tax property sale process: Yes.

Retention of Appellate Court Judges Moses W. Harrison and Thomas M. Welch: Yes.

Annexation of additional property to the Granite City Public Library District: Yes.

Miracle Manor-Bellemeor Place street lighting tax: Yes.

Unopposed, but also valuing Quid Citizens' votes, are State Rep. Sam W. Wolf, Madison County Clerk Evelyn M. Bowles, Sheriff Bob Churchich, Regional Superintendent of Schools Harry A. Briggs, Madison County Board Members Morris W. Miles, Frank Laub, Nelson "Nellie" Hagnauer, Vasil Efimoff and Donald C. Rea and three running as Democrats for circuit judgeships. — Edward Ferguson, Nicholas G. Byron and Phillip J. Kardis.

Letters

Won't retire after election

To the editor:

I want to take this opportunity to thank the voters in the 56th Senate District for the support they have given my campaign in the 1990 election.

During the course of every election, candidates level charges at one another concerning the issues, the votes, the problems of the area.

Most of the time the charges are leveled at the issue — not the candidate. In some instances, rumors take the place of truth, and that is when the record has to be set straight.

Unfortunately, a rumor has been circulating throughout our area that, after I am elected, I plan to retire.

Anyone who knows Sam Vadalabene knows this is a false statement. I carry a motto with me that my constituents know well — Senator Sam stands for service. I entered public service because I enjoy working with the people of our area.

I plan to continue working with the people of our area for as long as they honor me with their votes.

In closing, thank you to the people of Madison County for your support and for allowing me to work with you to make our home a thriving, prosperous area for our children and our grandchildren.

SEN. SAM M. VADALABENE
56th District

Kitten and puppy are a joy

To the editor:

I acquired a cat that was soon to become a mother. Her owner had moved, and she was without someone to feed her and keep a roof over her expected family. This happens quite often in this part of our city. Even so-called responsible people will leave an aging animal to fend for itself.

Therefore, I had four kittens and a mother cat. The mother cat took good care of the kittens. I then decided I must have a dog. It took weeks and then I found a neighbor who had 10 puppies.

I had the chance of a lifetime, so I took two 6-week-old German shepherds, which are a real joy — especially when a kitten and puppy decide to play together. The puppy is five times the size of the Siamese kitten, but play they must.

Joy is a kitten and a puppy. This joy is priceless, watching two 6-week-olds do their stuff, for any age child, myself included.

BARBARA HAHN, Granite City

Her hat is tipped to courtesy

To the editor:

I am writing as a senior citizen living in Pontoon Beach who is very grateful for the ACT bus that is available to seniors, handicapped people and low-income people to visit the doctor and hospital for treatment, to go to the grocery store and to visit to nursing homes.

My hat is off to the drivers, who are so courteous. I use the van to visit friends and relatives in nursing homes. I visit three nursing homes a week.

Sometimes, people's reflexes are not so fast as they used to be. More people should hang up their keys and leave the driving to ACT buses. There is a fee according to your income. The drivers carry groceries up to your door. Thanks again — the ACT bus is my car and gets me all over Madison County.

Energy independence urged

To the editor:

The Middle East situation has forcibly brought home the need to develop competitively-priced oil alternate fuels that are environmentally clean and derived from domestic sources.

The economy of Illinois would be given a shot in the arm if these fuel sources were readily available here. Agricultural products, coal and solar energy are prime examples.

President Bush has indicated federal dollars will be available for alternate fuel research. As an engineer, I recognize this is an opportunity for the University of Illinois, with its world-renowned colleges of Engineering, Science and Agriculture, to take the lead in cooperation with other Illinois universities and industries in comprehensive research effort to develop oil alternate fuels and energy delivery systems that are environmentally clean and economically competitive.

At the September U.I. trustees meeting, I asked the administration to study the feasibility of such a program. As a first step, President Kennedy briefed the board on Oct. 11 on energy research at U.I. highlights.

Since its founding in 1973, the Energy Research Center at U.I.-Chicago has worked with governmental agencies and industry on energy-related research.

Energy research expenditures at U.I. exceed $15 million annually and address virtually every aspect of energy production and use. The cost is borne by the U.S. Department of Energy and other agencies and industry.

U.I. engineers and scientists are exploring nuclear energy, coal cleaning technology, breeder reactors, thin film solar cells, heat exchangers resistant to corrosion at high temperatures and pressures, energy-efficient air conditioning and refrigeration equipment that utilizes ozone-safe refrigerants, more efficient photovoltaic electric generator solar cells, ethanol and methanol, etc.

I intend to work for expansion and acceleration of this effort and to insist that we work in cooperation with other Illinois universities and with industry.

Will the U.I. discover a miracle fuel and energy system? Only time will tell — but in the meantime, U.I. is developing a knowledge base upon which policy, as well as good technology, can be built.

The data may in itself act as the catalyst for research leading to an early energy-independent America.

Don't halt beating hearts

To the editor:

This is a letter to all federal employees who are concerned about the millions of babies being killed by abortion.

During the first two months of gestation the baby will have a heartbeat and brain waves, will respond to touch, suck his/her thumb, and have a recordable EKG.

By the third month of pregnancy, the baby wakes and sleeps, digests and has bowel movements, has fingerprints, breathes (fluid), squints and swallows, makes a fist, and has all body systems functioning.

It is during these first few months of pregnancy that one woman out of four makes her choice to destroy this tender young life growing in her womb.

JULIA SHEAHAN
President,
Glen-Ed Right-to-Life

Against golf course, landfill

To the editor:

Southern Illinois University has announced that it is not going to build a golf course for a privately owned golf course on the Edwardsville campus.

It cited "rapidly changing economic conditions, events in the Middle East, and the very high standards set by the university" as reasons for the lack of acceptable proposals.

Thanks are owed to all who testified and to the hundreds who signed petitions, wrote letters and made phone calls. The system works, if we work.

Opponents were successful in getting the university to include environmental standards in the proposal. And the administration apparently refused to ignore or lower those standards in order to accept bids.

SIUE says no further action will be taken at this time, but then cautions that it will "issue another request for proposals when conditions improve."

Although opponents will maintain their vigilance, right now it's time for celebration. It is a victory for the environment and there are far too few of those lately. Therefore, it is a victory for all.

Now, let's stop the proposed landfill near Horseshoe Lake in Madison County. It may not be next door to you, but it is sitting above the aquifer that feeds your groundwater.

The consequences of environmental degradation can be long-term and far-reaching. Contact your Madison County Board member and express your opposition; ask how he intends to vote. Then, remember that voting record at election time.

Needy will receive eyeglasses

To the editor:

The Lions Club of Madison thanks all of the individuals who contributed to the Candy Day fund raiser on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 12 and 13.

The fund raiser was very successful and in excess of $2,000 was collected at 6th Street and Madison Avenue, K mart and Schnucks.

The monies collected will now be used to purchase eyeglasses for needy children and adults. Thanks again for your support.

Pair honored on retirement

Kathy Dohnal covers the Madison-Venice scene for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 877-1086.

A retirement party for the Hamiltons' brothers, Chris and Nick, was held on Sunday, Oct. 21, at the home of Richard and Sharon Krieschok of Madison.

The party was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Mike (Betty) Skinner and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff (Betty) Skinner and children, Mr. and Mrs. Mark (Diane) Spiloff and children and Mr. and Mrs. Rich (Sharon) Krieschok and daughters.

A lamb roast buffet dinner was served.

Others attending were Leona Hamiltons, Marian Hamiltons, Ann Hamiltons, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Skinner from Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Tondas, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Butkovich, Georgeanne Obuncia and children, Beth Krieschok, Leta Krieschok, Connie Miller and Darryl Gall.

The Hamiltons' brothers have retired after more than 20 years in the meat packing business, located in Madison.

The business has now been taken over by Mike and Jeff Skinner.

A surprise 40th wedding anniversary party for Ed and Reggie Forsy was hosted on Oct. 6 by their daughter and son-in-law, Nancy and Anthony Stimac, and children, Jennifer, Scott and Nicholas.

The celebration was held at the Forsy residence. After a buffet dinner, gifts were presented to the guests of honor.

Among those attending the anniversary party were: Sil and Maxine Rozycke, Donna Whillock, Mike Rozycke and friends, Cindy, Bob and Loretta Marcus, Mark and Diane Coopermish and children, Casey, Kelli and Cory, Jim and Mary Ann Rice, Pamela Rice, Tom Rice and friends, Terry.

Also a surprise at the party was the arrival of Leo and Thelma Rozycke who drove from Fort Walton Beach, Fla. Others attending were Joe and Mary Ann Liszewski, Mark and Rose Ann Liszewski and son, Mark Jr., David and Barbara Forsy and son, Matthew, and Gina Giovando and son, Gino.

Mr. and Mrs. Forsy were married on Oct. 14, 1950, at St. Mary's Church in Madison. On Saturday, Oct. 25, the honorees went by plane to San Antonio, Texas, for a 10-day tour of the southern states, including stops at Houston, New Orleans and the "Cajun Country" near Lafayette, La.

Amanda Derosssett and Chastity Davis attended a Catholic Girl Scout retreat held on Sept. 29 and 30 at Camp Chan-Xa-Ta in Prairieville, Ill.

The retreat opened with a flag ceremony Saturday morning led by the Cadette and Senior Scouts. During the weekend the Scouts attended sessions on "Reflections On: At Home Family, Family of Friends, and Family of God."

Other events included games and campfire activities. The girls painted T-shirts and completed a requirement for the "Live My Faith Award" by making a yarn octopus to give to a friend.

A look at some statewide races

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

The election Tuesday gives Illinois voters a number of real choices, with both major political parties fielding strong candidates in the statewide races. A look at some of the races and candidates follows.

For U.S. Senator Lynn Martin Paul Simon

Democratic incumbent Paul Simon and Republican challenger Lynn Martin served together both in the Illinois House and U.S. House of Representatives. Politically, they have little else in common.

Simon, who leads in most polls by as much as 20 percentage points, has based his campaign on two major issues — education and health care.

Simon, from Makanda, has said his most memorable experience as a presidential candidate in 1988 was his view of the responsibility of public service.

To thank Simon for his support of Senate Bill 9412, which makes it mandatory for public schools to provide for all handicapped students, a choir made up of learning disability students recited the preamble of the U.S. Constitution and then sang "This Is My Country."

Simon said, "Now the reporters who were following the campaign were a hard bunch... but when I looked over at them, there was not a dry eye over there. I realized that if we hadn't passed 9412, half of those people would have been in institutions."

"Instead, they have been given opportunity. Even with its flaws, we live in a good and great country. It can be even better. We can make it an even better place."

Since being elected to the Senate six years ago, Simon has held "a record number" of town meetings throughout the state, where he fields constituents' questions without either a formal topic or agenda.

Martin's campaign is based on

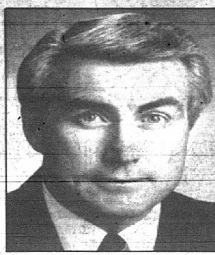

Voters who recall the 1988 battle between Jerry Costello and Robert Gaffner for the 21st Congressional District seat may be wondering when this year's campaign will begin.

Rep. Costello, 41, a Democrat from Belleville, and Gaffner, 57, a Republican from Greenville, square off again this year, but with less than a week remaining before the election, little has been heard from either candidate.

"Congress' lengthy budget deliberations kept Costello busy in Washington, and Gaffner's personal and professional responsibilities have kept him off the campaign trail."

Gaffner, assistant to the chancellor of St. Louis Community College, recently conducted a campaign to win approval of a tuition hike. He also is liquidating a business in Greenville for his 90-year-old father, who is seriously ill.

Costello and Gaffner waged two vigorous campaigns in 1988 federal fiscal responsibility. "I will not support a tax increase, period."

As a congressman, she voted against a number of the health and education programs Simon points to with pride. "For the hundreds of Democratic programs to increase federal spending, I'm sure I can with pride say I voted against a lot of those measures," Martin has said.

She will not completely rule out some tax increases in the future. "There are certain taxes that, if they benefited Illinois, I'd look at and consider. And if they were good for Illinois, I'd vote for them."

But Martin said the tax increases voted this year will hurt the state and "all they will be used for more spending somewhere else."

Martin said, "Remember this: when you vote in November, I say no to payroll tax increases, no to consumer taxes, and a big no to any increase in federal income taxes."

For Governor Jim Edgar Neil Hartigan

With the retirement of Gov. James Thompson, Democrats see a chance to move into the governor's mansion for the first time in 14 years.

Neil Hartigan
... Democrat

Illinois Attorney General Neil Hartigan was chosen by the Democrats to lead that campaign. To carry on the Thompson tradition, Republicans are putting their hope in Secretary of State Jim Edgar, who calls himself a resident of "downstate Illinois."

As attorney general, Hartigan, of Chicago, set up a system of permanent regional and satellite offices designed to handle complaints and offer assistance. Hartigan successfully pushed for a Victims' Bill of Rights and legislation designed to protect consumers from fraud and abuse.

As secretary of state, Edgar spearheaded a successful crackdown on people driving under the influence of alcohol and, in his role as state librarian, established an adult literacy program that is often cited as a model for the entire nation.

Both candidates say their administration would bring Illinois more jobs, more industry, a higher standard of living and a better quality of life.

The major difference between the candidates, one they each address daily, is the future of the state's temporary income tax increase designed to provide money for schools and municipalities.

Edgar says the money is desperately needed by the schools and he would keep the increase in place.

Hartigan says he agrees the money is needed by the schools.

But Hartigan says he will be able to cut state budgets in other areas enough to provide the money for education, without making the two-year income tax increase permanent.

Hartigan's running mate is Jim Burns and Edgar's candidate for lieutenant governor is Bob Kustra.

For Treasurer Gregory Baise Pat Quinn

After winning the primary election for treasurer, outsider Pat Quinn was welcomed with open arms by the Democratic Party. Republican candidate Gregory Baise didn't have that problem. He has been a member of the Thompson administration in a variety of positions since 1975.

Until a few months ago when he voluntarily stepped aside to run his campaign, Baise, of Springfield, was Illinois secretary of Transportation (since 1983). Baise says holding that position and having been involved in several major political campaigns more than qualify him to run the state treasury.

Baise's reputation as a campaign politician is legendary. As a campaign manager, he is credited with delivering Illinois to President Ronald Reagan in 1984, and to President George Bush in 1988.

He also was the campaign manager of Thompson's successful 1986 bid for an unprecedented fourth term.

Quinn, of Chicago, is best known for his nonpartisan campaigns, including his campaign for a constitutional convention in 1988. He spearheaded reducing the Illinois House from 177 to 118 seats.

As state treasurer, Quinn said, he will make sure state funds are invested in a way that is not only good for the state treasury, but also for the state as a whole. He claims that state money has often been invested out-of-state rather than put into projects which would bring economic development to the state.

Views of the budget skirmishes in Washington.

Gaffner said voters are fed up with the government's seeming inability to deal with financial and economic problems.

"The country's mood is that 'enough is enough,'" he said. "They're tired of a Band-Aid approach. I'm sick to death of it."

He said Congress and the president should work together to prepare the nation for sacrifices that will be necessary.

Costello said the budget debates should be put in perspective. "Really, it's democracy in action," he said. "People don't elect us to be rubber stamps."

Both candidates give President George Bush high marks for his handling of the Persian Gulf crisis. Costello said he has supported U.S. policy so far but does not think the United States should initiate hostilities.

"Let the economic sanctions (against Iraq) work," Costello said. "They will work."

'Saints Alive' enjoy travel

Maxine Green covers the Granite City and Nameoki Township area for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 931-6256.

Senior members of the Madison County Baptist Association, known as the "Saints Alive," enjoyed a trip to Pere Marquette State Park near Grafton on Oct. 25. The group admired the changing colors of the leaves along the way, stopped at a country store and made purchases, and then had dinner at the Bare Foot Restaurant before returning home. Van drivers were Carlos LeVault and Calvin Talbert. Members taking part were Myra Grote, Louise Acock, Betty Eggeneyer, Vicki Elmore, Pauline Hays, Delores Hillis, Lucy Stewart, Vera Kirkpatrick, Douglas and Virginia Harrelaux, Jim and Vera Ridgeway, Ken and Margaret Newham, Virgil and Olive Stogsdill, Gertrude Sullivan, Edna Hall, Glen and Phyllis Knight and a guest, Norma Talbert.

David Lathrop, Cindy Borgens and son and daughter, Matt and Pam, celebrated their birthdays at a wedding reception held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard (Doris) Lathrop. Other guests included Randy and Gary Borgens, Stephanie, Ryan and Elizabeth Lathrop and Berta Thompson. Also Al and Patty Stevens and sons, Chris and Adam, Charlie Williams and Kathy Lathrop.

The 46th Annual Session of the Madison County Baptist Association was held at the First Baptist Church of Maryville, where Rev. Fred Winters is pastor. John Knapp, moderator, was assisted by Rev. Wilkinson. Dr. Rick Heironimus, director of Discipleship Training Services, ISSA, led a Bible study at each session. Wade Allen of the Pontotoc Baptist Association shared information about his work. Among the highlights of the meeting was a report of the Ad Hoc Property Development Committee, which recommended building a covered pavilion and a pole barn to hold at least 150 persons for the development and use at the Baptist Center.

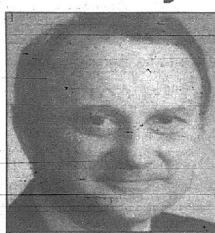

Viola Lathrop has returned to her home in Fairfield, Ill. after spending a week visiting her sons, Howard and Mervin Lathrop and their families.

Women members of the Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, will serve a chicken and dumpling dinner on Saturday, Nov. 3, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. There will be coffee, crafts and bakery goods for sale. Carcays will be available.

Boy Scout Troop 14 will sponsor a public barbecue on Saturday, Nov. 10, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Eagle Lodge, 1136 at 2550 Madison Ave. Plate dinners will cost $3.75 and sandwiches will be $3. All proceeds will go toward camp.

Mrs. Carl Clark and her daughter, Betty Morton, and son, Carl Clark Jr., have returned from Erin, Tenn., where they visited relatives. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Warfield of Collinsville.

1980s brought victories by democracy but also by immune deficiency

How will the decade of the 1980s be remembered by most? Unprecedented economic expansion? A time when the federal debt soared out of sight? Experiments with deregulation, backfiring badly in regard to many savings-and-loan firms?

These are good answers, but probably will be two others:

1. A major buildup of America's military might, culminating in removal of the Berlin Wall and the end of the Cold War.

2. The rapid spread of AIDS acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

THE HORROR and tragedy of AIDS emerged at a local Rotary luncheon this month as Dr. Pam Gronemeyer of St. Elizabeth Medical Center gave facts on AIDS.

It isn't like the Black Plague that killed so many people six centuries ago. It might be worse. It's "smart" and versatile, attacking one's body in almost every possible way. It hides in cells of the body, waiting until ready to go on the offensive.

Because it becomes a part of one's cells, it cannot really be stopped; you can only kill off the many cells before their less kills the person, she said.

SOME PROGRESS is being made in fighting some of the symptoms and ailments that AIDS permits to flourish, but it makes even small health problems dangerous.

After ravaging your body, it may go after your brain, depriving you of your usual good judgment about what to say or do.

It's a virus, one so formidable that a relatively quick cure, like the Salk polio vaccine, isn't likely. Remedies or partial remedies are years distant.

Some progress is achieved, most likely it will be a way to prevent or greatly reduce the probability of contracting AIDS. Once acquired, it cannot be gotten rid of, and death within a few years is a virtual certainty.

PREVENTION and education are the answers. Absolute monogamy by both partners. Or total abstinence. Even then, what about blood transfusions, or accidents with needles?

Bill Winter

It is a problem for the general population, not just a few who "asked for trouble" by the lifestyles they chose.

AIDS started in the United States largely among gay men in San Francisco and New York City. But in some countries it affects as many women as men, and the ratio in the United States is slowly moving in that direction. Men can transmit AIDS to women, and women can transmit it to men.

WYOMING was the last, but now the list includes all 50 states and nearly all counties. Some primitive foreign countries are severely affected but won't provide statistics.

Intravenous drug abuse has spread AIDS to many people, including teens and young adults. And a contract AIDS from their mothers, when they are born, most of these infants will be dead by the age of two years.

AT LEAST SOME CONCERN has arisen about health personnel transmitting AIDS to dental or surgery patients and vice versa — patients infecting doctors and nurses.

Gloves and masks may not be enough for safety.

There are positive aspects. As people become better informed, surely they will act more sensibly.

Also positive is the response by those who want to help victims. Lois Kendall of the Suburban Journals reported on this during the summer:

"A PERSON DIAGNOSED with AIDS often loses everything — his health, job, home, friends, family and, ultimately, life."

"Doorways, a non-profit organization, helps (AIDS victims) cope with one of those losses, the loss of their homes."

"Concerned clergy and lay people from a cross-section of (St. Louis area) religious traditions formed the Interfaith Task Force, now called the AIDS Interfaith Network. Doorways grew out of that network."

Lynne Cooper, executive director of Doorways, said the need for housing is great: "Sometimes their families turn their backs on them when they find out they have the disease. Some may already have been on their own for a long time, but when they get sick, they lose their job, health insurance and, eventually, housing," Cooper said.

"LANDLORDS HAVE BEEN known to discriminate against persons with AIDS. The landlords find out the person is sick and uses any excuse (to force the person to move).

"Doorways operates a residential program for low-income families and individuals; provides an on-site program, subsidizing rent or mortgage payments; provides emergency funds for those who are in mortgage problems; and runs a clearinghouse listing property managers willing to help locate housing."

This program undoubtedly has done a lot of good.

But authorities say the impact of AIDS goes far beyond the fate of those with AIDS.

EXERTING PRESSURE on the capacity and finances of health facilities, AIDS patients by their sheer, fast-growing numbers may harm health systems serving the general public, those who do not have AIDS.

Why the certainty of growth? Many people already doomed may not know it — may not be confronted by its effects until mid-decade reality.

Sorry, I'll write about a happier topic next week.

District honors achievements

By Maxine Duniphan
Correspondent

Carmen Breckner of English Place, Mitchell, was presented the Nick Petrillo Award honoring her late husband, Audell "Harry" Breckner, during the halftime ceremonies at the Granite City High School-Edwardsville High football game on Friday, Oct. 5.

The Memorial Recognition Award, established in 1988, is presented posthumously to individuals who have outstanding and on-going contributions to the athletic programs in the Granite City School District.

Three other distinguished leaders, W. Carl Graham, James D. Hackney and Lawrence C. McCauley — and their families were honored in the ceremony.

In addition to the time spent in youth activities, Breckner spearheaded the movement to create the Mitchell Athletic Field, which was started in 1982.

About one year later, Breckner and the late Wendell Corey, who was responsible for getting Breckner involved in the project, began to organize teams that would use the fields, first Khoury Baseball League and later other athletic programs.

He also recruited volunteers in 1978 and then headed the group to organize the Mitchell Fall Festival, an event which remains the major fund-raiser for the youth athletic programs.

On May 16, 1989, Breckner received the Governor's Citation award. The award was presented to him by former Gov. Richard V. Ogilvie at the Congress Hotel in Chicago.

The citation was given, in part, in recognition of the decrease in crime in the Mitchell area during the years after the Mitchell athletic program was organized and operating.

Breckner continued as an active participant in the athletic programs until his death on Sept. 6, 1986.

Others receiving the award were:

•W. Carl Graham, a resident of Granite City for 60 years, who did not seek recognition but quietly performed countless acts of kindness and encouragement to build character in youngsters and to increase their opportunities for success in life.

Graham's association in Scouting began in 1917 and he helped organize Scouting's first summer camp in the Ozarks. He operated Graham Bookstore in downtown Granite City for 48 years.

He supplied athletic equipment for Granite City High School athletic teams for many years and made sure each athlete was properly equipped, regardless of the athlete's ability to pay for the items.

•James D. Hackney, who moved with his family to Granite City in 1956. He immediately formed a Khoury Little League baseball team and from that day on, Hackney not only had three daughters and one son of his own, but he had many other "sons."

Hackney always considered his ballplayers as "his boys." He coached, refereed, umpired and volunteered in every capacity and was absolutely devoted to sports.

•Lawrence C. McCauley, who was born, raised and educated in Granite City. He graduated from Granite City High School in 1925 and began his teaching career in Granite City in 1931. He coached football, wrestling, tennis and baseball.

His wrestling team had four undefeated seasons and sparked a winning tradition in that sport. His football team became Southwestern Conference Champions in 1946, and his baseball team won the Illinois State Championship in 1948.

McCauley became principal of Granite City High School in 1954 and remained in that position until his retirement in 1972.

The names of the honorees were added to a permanent plaque which is displayed in the high school gymnasium. Each of the honorees' families received an individual plaque.

Previous recipients of the Nick Petrillo Memorial Athletic Recognition Award were: David W. Morgan, 1920-1987; Pat Rich, 1910-1972; Jon "Tarp" Tarpoff, 1922-1983; and Cameron VanBuskirk, 1920 to 1970.

Angela Lynn Novosel
and Michael P. West

Novosel-West

Angela Lynn Novosel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Novosel III of Granite City, and Michael P. West, son of Mr. and Mrs. John West of Effingham, are announcing their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Granite City High School and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. She is employed by the Granite City School District as a first grade teacher at Mitchell Elementary School.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Effingham High School and will graduate from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in June 1991 with a business degree in production operation management. He also is employed by United Parcel Service in Bethalto.

The couple is planning an Aug. 10, 1991, wedding at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church in Granite City.

Madison church to host area ministers

The Apostolic Church of Jesus Christ, 224 State St., Madison, will host a church fellowship and business meeting of the Apostolic Church movement.

A fellowship meeting will be held on Friday night, Nov. 2, at 7:30, and a business session will take place at 10 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 3.

Lunch will be served at noon on Saturday, said Pastor Grace K. Sparks.

Ministers from Arkansas, Missouri and Illinois will be attending the program, which will feature special music and singers.

Evangelist Gene Beck from Walnut Ridge, Ark., will speak Friday night.

Winter to speak at Old Six Mile

The Old Six Mile Historical Society will hold its monthly meeting at the Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, on Monday, Nov. 5, at 7 p.m.

Bill Winter of the Granite City Press-Record/Journal will be the guest speaker. He will discuss the 88-year history of the local newspaper.

There will be a white elephant auction; with Dick Oliver auctioneering. Refreshments will be served.

Mr. and Mrs.
Sidney Paul Sternberg-
Sullivan

Jody Lyn Smith
Smith-
Tanner

Jody Lyn Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith of Granite City, and Jerry Lee Tanner Jr., son of Jerry Tanner Sr. of Granite City and Carol Atwood of Collinsville, are announcing their engagement and approaching marriage.

The bride-to-be, a graduate of Granite City Senior High School, previously was employed by Comfort Companies in St. Louis.

Her fiancé is employed as a laborer through Laborers Union Local 44 of Collinsville.

The couple is planning a Nov. 30 wedding at the Word of Life Tabernacle in Granite City.

Laura Sullivan and Sidney Paul Sternberg of Granite City were married in a candlelight ceremony on Oct. 6, 1990, at First Church of the Nazarene, Illinois 111, Pontoon Beach. The Rev. Michael Suits officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Arthur Tankersley of McEwen, Tenn.

The maid of honor was Sue Jackson of Granite City, daughter of the bride.

Serving as best man was William (Bill) Sternberg of Granite City, son of the groom.

The miniature bride was Kristin Hulse, great-granddaughter of the bride, and the miniature groom was Matthew Ariana, the bride's grandson.

Users were Tony Sternberg, grandson of the groom and Stacy Jackson, grandson of the bride.

A reception was held at the Croatian Home in Madison with dance music played by the John Fornasewski Band.

For their wedding trip, the couple went by AMTRAK to the Chicago area.

Mr. and Mrs. Sternberg are both retired.

Prior to the wedding, the groom's daughter and son-in-law, Jack and Dora Ann Moenster, hosted a reception for the bride and groom, members of the wedding party and relatives.

More than 200 guests attended the wedding, including the couples' children.

Children of the bride and their spouses are Bill and Sue Jackson, Bob and Cheryl Ariana and Tony and Wanda Jackson. Her grandchildren present were Jason, Mathew and Joshua Ariana, Tom and Colleen Schmeisser and children, Kriston and Aaron, Rodney Brian Jackson, and 2nd Lt. Chris Kramer and his wife, Lisa, from Fort Knox, Ky.

The groom's children attending were Bill and Pit Sternberg, and Jack and Dora Ann Moenster. His grandchildren present were Sandy, Christine and Tony Sternberg and Ryan Moenster.

Among the out-of-town guests were: the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tankersley, and her sister, Lillie Summers, all of McEwen, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mathis of Granite City, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Parker of Blue Springs, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sternberg, Walch, Ill., and Ruth Jung and Clemmy Sternberg, both of Sparta.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Sometimes the owners of a business will sell their business interests, and the purchasers will insist that a noncompetition clause be included in the sale contract. A clause such as this will normally prohibit the seller of the business from reentering the business community and competing with a buyer for a specified period of time and within a specified geographical area.

In one recent case, the plaintiffs purchased the defendant's carpet cleaning business in the City of Aurora, Illinois for $30,000.00. As part of the contract for sale, the defendant agreed not to compete in any similar business in a ten-mile radius of the City of Aurora for a period of not less than five years. The plaintiffs in this case continued to operate the carpet cleaning business under the former name of Steam Power.

One year later, the defendant decided to reenter the carpet cleaning business. He advertised in the Aurora newspaper and contacted Steam Power's former customers.

Many of the defendant's former customers switched back to him. Apparently the business practices of the new owners had slipped, and they were overbidding customers and not returning phone calls.

The new owners of the business went to court to seek an injunction to prohibit the defendant from reentering the business community. The trial court ruled that the new owners were not entitled to an injunction since they could go to court and seek dollar damages if they had sustained a loss. Furthermore, the trial court held that the plaintiffs had not proved they would sustain an "irreparable injury" if the injunction were not entered. This ruling by the trial court allowed the former business owner to continue in business.

The plaintiffs appealed the decision, and the Appellate Court ruled that the trial court's decision was incorrect. The Appellate Court decided that it would be impossible for the new business owners to show lost profits arising from potential sales in the future, and therefore money damages would never be an adequate remedy for them. The Appellate Court noted there was a loss of customers and sales, and the threat of the continuation of such losses, and thus the plaintiffs would suffer irreparable injury. The Appellate court thus ruled that the purchasers of the carpet-cleaning business were entitled to a permanent injunction prohibiting the seller of the business from violating the noncompetition clause in the sales contract.

John 13:36 "If I should stay, I will sin, for I shall see thee often."

Today the world is stirred for love. Everyone is hungry. We do not have time for ourselves. We press on the street and never see each other. We are so busy that we live with everything within us to avoid our neighbor. There is a selfish and selfish feeling that we have. Why is this? Perhaps we are without God and His spirit. The Bible says, "God is love." If we could just open our hearts and let the love of God come in, what a difference it would make. He would drop the chains with which we are bound, and the man with a heart that is full of love would be a different man. The Word says, "A man's heart is full of good things, but the love of God is the way to have a merry heart to have the love that only God can give. It is so simple. Just ask God to come into your heart. What a change, what a flood of love will come over you. See what a difference it makes in your life. See what a difference it makes in your life today."

Students ship mail to soldiers

Granite City High School students in Margaret Lyons classes recently mailed a package of donated items as a gesture of goodwill to the U.S. service personnel stationed in Saudi Arabia for Operation Desert Shield.

Among items brought by the students were hard candy, football cards, magazines, crossword puzzles, books, cookies, gum, cards, music tapes, newspapers, stationery, whiffle balls and sponges.

One student embroidered and framed a sampler with the saying "Friendship warms the heart."

Several students sent copies of science exams and asked the soldiers to take the test for fun and return it to Granite City High School to be graded.

Many letters were sent in hopes of receiving some in return from military persons in the Middle East.

The project was realized from classroom discussion about the Mid-East Crisis and the USA's involvement in world affairs.

The following are some excerpts from student's letters sent to our soldiers:

"Dear Soldier: So, how's it going over there where you are, besides hot sand flying all over the place? Have you guys seen any action yet?" Billy G.

School

"Dear Soldier: Mr. Bush is trying to cut the import of oil. They say there will be an earthquake Dec. 3 here. I'm sending you a copy of my science test so you can take it. All you see in the paper is about the Middle East. Each morning when we say the pledge, I think of all you guys in the Middle East. The St. Louis ball team is in last place."

Marvin B.

"Dear Soldier: What's it like being over in another country fighting for another country? We're behind you guys 100 percent. Go for it. God bless you all. American is No. 1. Spread the word. Mike W.

"Dear Soldier: I live in a town where they make steel. It's right across from St. Louis. What state do you live in? What branch of the military are you in? Dan S.

"Dear Soldier: I have two cousins over there right now. What do you do in your spare time? I hope we don't go to war. I don't want anyone to get hurt.

I hope you get to come home safely. Lisa L.

And more: "P.S., take the science test and send it back, please."

"Our football team has not been beat yet."

"Do you have trouble with snakes?"

"We have a great soccer team."

"I hear it would make you feel at home, so I'm writing you a letter, and especially that you would love to hear that we are still praying for you. I hope you come home soon." John G.

"Do you have a pet?"

"You men are lucky, because you're out of school and I'm still in school."

And finally: "Dear serviceman: I wonder how bad it is out there. You have my full support. If you should come under attack, blow them out of the ground."

"Serviceman, I think you are doing a good job out there, I'm sure of it."

"Let me tell you a little about myself. I am 15 and in the 10 grade at Granite City High School. I enjoy school and reading about armed forces and volcanoes. I am a Boy Scout in Troop 102." Chris C.

Marching Warriors win at Charleston

The Marching Warriors participated in the 15th Annual Marching Band Contest hosted by Eastern Illinois University at Charleston on Saturday, Oct. 6, and won in several areas.

The band members received the following awards: first place in field show in the AA class; first place percussion in the AA class and outstanding percussion overall; first place drum majors in the AA class and outstanding drum majors overall; second place for auxiliaries.

Drum majors this year are Craig Leavell, Andy Lator and JoAnn Buxton. The band is under the direction of Dennis Meyer and Norbert Tate.

The Warrior Band placed fourth in their division at Busch Stadium on Oct. 27 at the annual marching band competition. There were 21 bands competing with four divisions based on band size. The band auxiliaries received an outstanding award. The auxiliaries consist of the flag and rifle squads and the pom-pom squad. Both awards brought in two more trophies for the band.

This was the last contest for the marching band this year. The band will be performing in concerts starting in December and will be at home basketball games this season.

Application process opens for King award

EDWARDSVILLE — The fourth annual presentation of the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Scholar Award has been announced at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Applications are now available from the Office of the Dean of Students. The award will be presented in conjunction with the University's Jan. 15, 1991 observance of the birthday of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The award was initiated in January 1988 to recognize on an annual basis an SIUE student who is daily living the dream of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

To be eligible for consideration for the award, an applicant must be a black American student currently enrolled for a minimum of 12 hours at SIUE, must have a cumulative grade-point average of 4.0 or higher, and must have completed at least one quarter as a full-time undergraduate student at SIUE.

All applicants must submit three letters of recommendation, a resume, and a personal statement of 200 words, expressing a personal commitment to the values and beliefs of King, as well as the applicant's future goals. Applicants will be evaluated on scholarship, leadership, community service and commitment to humanitarian ideals.

The student who is named the 1991 Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Scholar will receive a $100 cash award, a plaque and tuition for one quarter of full-time undergraduate study. The presentation of the award will be made at the King birthday celebration luncheon at SIUE's University Center. Last year's award winner was Bernadette Irving, an SIUE senior majoring in accountancy.

Applications must be submitted to the Office of the Dean of Students by Nov. 16 at 4:30 p.m. Contact Constantine Rockingham, Dean of Students, Box 1058, SIUE, or call (618) 692-2020.

DRUG EDUCATION GIFT: Detective Sgt. Rich Schardan, center, accepts a check on behalf of the Granite City Police Department. The funds will help to operate the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program. Making the presentation are Dr. John Vasiloff, DARE Committee treasurer, left, and Monroe Worthen, committee co-chairman. DARE, a non-profit organization, currently provides a DARE officer-instructor for the Granite City elementary schools.

Vernie Von Nida
... of Granite City

Local receives Unity degree

In a special ceremony at Unity Church, the Church of the Daily Word, 1400 E. B St., Belleville, Vernie Von Nida was formally presented with her license as a unity teacher by the Rev. Patsy Havin.

The license is issued by Unity School of Practical Christianity, Lee's Summit, Mo., publishers of the Daily Word.

The presentation came during the 11 a.m. service on Oct. 28.

Von Nida, a resident of Granite City, earned the license by attending Unity School of Practical Christianity for 150 hours, passing a comprehensive exam, 24 hours of practice teaching, and successfully completing a Skills Demonstration Seminar.

She has taught classes at Unity Church of Peace, Lemay, Mo., and Unity Chapel, Granite City, as well as at the Unity Church in Belleville.

Von Nida has elected to work with Unity Church, the Church of the Daily Word, in Belleville as a licensed teacher and director of youth services. She writes short stories for children and does clown ministry. Von Nida appeared as the Unity Clown for several classes at Webster School in Collinsville.

Warriors making 14th trip to state

All-stater Birdsong's header subdues stubborn Kahoks, 1-0

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — After a while, it gets monotonous. But only those from Collinsville want to change the tune. It plays just fine in Granite City.

Once again the Warriors and Kahoks squared off with a ticket to the state tournament at stake on Tuesday. And again it was Granite City smiling when the smoke cleared. Skip Birdsong scored with just 40 seconds left in the first half for a 1-0 win, sending the Warriors (22-3-1) to the state tournament for the 14th time in 19 years.

Birdsong took a perfect crossing pass from sophomore Brent Dippel and headed the ball past Kahok goalie Mike Bolandis for his team-leading 15th goal of the year. Birdsong and fellow co-captain Pat Rich will be making their third trip to state in three years along with fellow senior Dan Terrell, and it's the Warriors fourth trip in a row to state. They will be gunning for their 10th state title beginning and second in a row — Friday with a 7:30 p.m. quarterfinal game against Naperville North (19-2-5) at St. Charles High School.

"The sweeper went out to get Brent and he called my name before making the pass," said Birdsong, who also scored the winner on a similar play in the regional championship against Civic Memorial last week.

"Brent made the perfect play. Anybody could have scored it." Whether it's soccer or hockey, giving up a goal in the final minute of a period or a half is a backbreaker. And it was one the Kahoks (14-6-2) couldn't bounce back from Tuesday, although they were right with the Warriors the whole game.

"I'm happy with our game."

said Kahok coach Ron Rowden. "We wanted to keep them off balance early because they're a good first-quarter team, and we wanted to avoid them hurting us on throw-ins, corner kicks and other restarts. And we did that."

The Warriors are deadly on restarts, but it was just a good play by Jeff Stephens, Dippel and Birdsong which led to the goal.

"We had Birdsong marked well the whole game," said Rowden. "But it was just a little mistake there. We had a smaller player on him and he was just able to get the ball and make the shot."

Birdsong and Rich were both named to the all-state team last week, and they made their final game on The Gauntlet a pleasant memory.

"These seniors deserve it," said Warrior coach Gene Baker as happy Warrior fans drove off with horns blaring. "We went to state all four years they were in the program and that's a neat thing for them. Skip has not always been getting enough 'oomph' on his shots in close. We were always on him to do more for us, but he keeps winning games."

Bolandis made great saves early on shots from Brian Buske and Jay Robertson, then the Kahoks had chances of their own. Steve Van Dyke, a hot scorer in the post-season, fired just wide at the 24:40 mark, then Henson leaped to tip his high hard one over the bar four minutes later.

Seniors complete perfect four-year run to state

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Although there's still one more weekend of work ahead, Tuesday was a milestone for the seniors on the 1990 Warrior soccer team.

It's been a pretty good four years. Only three other graduating classes (1979-81) can claim to have been part of four state finalists. And as far as this year's seniors are concerned, three of them — Skip Birdsong, Pat Rich and Dan Terrell — will be suiting up for their third state tournament.

Birdsong, Rich and Terrell were sophomores when the 1988 team finished third in a strike-marred year. They shivered in the wind and cold as the Warriors were upended 2-1 by eventual state champ Buffalo Grove in the semifinals. And they celebrated as juniors last year in a 1-0 win over Glenbrook North for the title.

None of this year's seniors dressed as freshmen for the 1987 state champions, but it was still a pretty successful four-year run as they were the undisputed champions of southern Illinois.

For the seniors, Tuesday's 1-0 win over Collinsville in the Granite City Super-Sectional was exciting and a reason to look ahead to this weekend's state tournament. But it was also bitter-sweet knowing it was the last game at The Gauntlet for Birdsong, Rich, Terrell, Jay Robertson, Brian Buske, Jeff Stephens, Jim McKeen, Larry Strader, Ryan Reeves, Jason Scrum, Matt Loftus, Larry Wright, Rodney Almos, Brad O'Neill and the injured Jason Nemeth.

"We've put in a lot of work on this field," said Birdsong, who along with Rich was named to the all-state last week. "It's a little sad knowing we won't play here again, but this is the best way to go out."

The seniors got together before this game and talked about what it meant to go to state again," said Rich. "The last two years were great, but it's always best for the seniors. Now we know how it feels."

Birdsong and Rich joined Civic Memorial's Jamie Phillips as all-state players from southern Illinois. Warrior players receiving all-sectional honors were seniors Jeff Stephens and Jay Robertson along with junior goalie Tim Henson. In addition, seniors Brian Buske, Ryan Reeves, Jim McKeen and Henson were named to the all-Southwestern Conference team on Monday, with Terrell an honorable mention selection.

But individual honors were far from their minds Tuesday.

"It's a little different feeling going to state as a senior," Birdsong said. "You feel more of a leadership role. You wanted to help the seniors go the last couple of years. Now I know how they felt, and we want the young-

Warrior gridders back on the map

The rumblings around Granite City late this summer about a 4-5 season for the Warrior football team. While 4-5 might not seem like much in many towns, it would have been cause for celebration in Granite City, where the varsity had won only one game in the previous three seasons. But the Warriors exceeded that with a 5-4 season in which they were still in the playoff hunt right down to the final week of the season.

It would be a shame if all people remembered about the 1990 season was the 47-0 loss to Belleville East last Friday. It was really the only game all year the Warriors performed below expectations. All four losses came to playoff teams, and a 49-0 loss to East St. Louis — still ranked No. 1 nationally — is certainly nothing to be ashamed of.

Tom Wyrostek's team put itself ahead of schedule on opening night with a 21-7 win over Cahokia. That ended up costing the Comanches a playoff spot, and many people were calling Cahokia the best non-playoff team in the area. But the Warriors could be considered that as well. They won all the games they were supposed to, along with the one (Cahokia) that maybe they weren't supposed to.

Wyrostek kept the year interesting. There were some flea-flickers, and arounds, fake punts and the like at various times.

"We've usually had good crowds when I've been coaching," Wyrostek said early in the year. "I guess people want to come out and see what crazy thing I'm going to try next."

But even more than the gadgets, the Warriors played solid straight-up football. Mike Vaughn ran hard all year, gaining 590 yards on the ground (4.7 per carry) and scoring seven touchdowns. He tied with Mike Nordstrom for the team scoring lead with 42 points. Nordstrom will make everybody's all-effort team. He caught 21 passes (eighth in the area) for 316 yards and three touchdowns. He was also 18 for 20 on extra points and punted 31 times for a 32.6 average.

Damon Yates was a solid runner with 283 yards and a 4.1 average with three touchdowns. And Bobby Thomas had a solid

Tough field awaits Warriors at state

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

As usual, the Warriors won't have an easy time in the state soccer tournament.

An excellent field of teams awaits the nine-time state champions as they try to make it an even 10 this weekend in St. Charles, a southwest suburb of Chicago. Granite City will open up with a 7:30 p.m. quarterfinal game Friday against Naperville North (19-2-5).

The Huskies scored a thrilling win over Hinsdale South in the Darien (Hinsdale South) Super-Sectional on Tuesday. North had to play the final 60 minutes two men short as two of its players were ejected early in the second half. But the Huskies hung on for a 2-0 victory before winning the game on penalty kicks.

"It was a little strange," said North coach Dave Bucher. "But sometimes the other team

Caravan, rally slated Sunday

There will be a caravan and a rally for the Warrior soccer team here Sunday, but only if it wins Friday.

"It's all contingent on how we do in the quarterfinals," said Granite City High School principal Dave Painter.

Should the Warriors win Friday, they will be assured of two games Saturday and no worse than fourth place in the state. In that case, the caravan will start at the intersection of Interstate 270 and Illinois 111 at approximately 2 p.m. Sunday. The caravan will continue over to Illinois 203 and into town. A rally will then be held at the high school gym, starting at approximately 3:30 p.m.

To get to St. Charles High School, take Interstate 55 to the Illinois 47 exit at Dwight. Take that north to Route 64 and make a right into St. Charles. Route 64 becomes Main Street. Follow that until crossing the Fox River to Dunham Road. Turn left to Fox Chase Drive and take a right to the stadium.

At 68, Carl Reiner still in top form

Carl Reiner has been one of the most successful creative forces in comedy entertainment since 1960, when he was hired by producer Max Liebman to join Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca as a regular on "Your Show of Shows."

Since then he has exhibited a unique understanding of things "funny" and an ability to convey them to audiences. Reiner, 68, credits his long-time comedy partner and friend Mel Brooks with teaching him what Reiner calls "the silliness of the absolute truth." An example of the concept is the 2,000-year-old-man comedy interview routine made famous years ago by Reiner and Brooks.

"Just the other day I had a party at my home," Reiner said. "Mel and I got up to do the routine. I asked him how they got around 2,000 years ago, what was it that propelled them?"

"Mel answered, 'Fear.' He said 'When a hungry lion is chasing you, bang, you're off at 100 miles an hour.'"

"Now that may be a joke, but it's also a metaphor for the truth. Fear is a great motivator in everyone's life, and Mel's ability to work these truths into his humor is what makes him so successful and one of a kind."

Staying abreast of new comics and comedy material also is important to remaining at the top of the comedy business, Reiner said, adding that the ability to appreciate new ideas adds to good health and a long life.

But all humor starts at one place, he said. "Writing is the key to funny. Whether you write for the page or it flows from your mind and you speak it as you go along."

A case in point is the latest film Reiner directed, "Sibling Rivalry," he said. The film is about a marriage beset by an insecure wife, played by Kirstie Alley, who has an affair.

"The script made me laugh," Reiner said. "It has, I think, a universal appeal. Actually, I'm not sure every marriage is suffering from infidelity since I don't see Oprah or Phyllis Diller. But I have a feeling the topic is relative to more marriages than you might think."

Reiner's involvement in "Sibling Rivalry" was a family affair of another type; his 45-year-old son, Ron, is principal in Castle Rock Entertainment, which produced the film.

"This is the first time I've made a film for my son's company, and I hope it isn't the last," Reiner said. "It's the best company I've ever worked for."

"They gave me 53 days to make this picture. The most I ever had before was 50 days. I ended up using 51 days and gave them back two, which was a big savings. But I always come in under budget and under time. It's a trademark for me as a director."

Reiner also made his mark in television by creating "The Dick Van Dyke Show" and making periodic appearances as Van Dyke's vain and obnoxious boss, Alan Brady.

But he leaves little doubt that his focus now is on directing and that he does it well. "I'm pretty organic as a director," Reiner said. "I'm not big on a lot of preparation. I usually wait to see the actors on the set and running the lines and then I decide how to stage it. Fortunately, for those paying the bills, I can do all this rather quickly."

Like mom and dad and Rob, the other two members of the family are involved in creative pursuits. Daughter Annie is a writer-artist; son Lucas just finished directing a film called "Spirit of 76."

"I'm in the film, and it takes place in the year 2176," Reiner said. "I play the oldest man who remembers anything about the history of the United States. As usual, I'm hilarious."

Harry Hamm is entertainment editor for both KMOX-AM (1120) and the CBS Radio Network.

Wood carvers' annual show to feature 200 exhibitors

BELLEVIEW — The Belleville Holzschäters Wood Carvers Club will hold its 20th annual Midwestern Wood Carver's Show on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 3 and 4, at the Belle-Clair Exposition Hall in Belleville.

On Saturday, the show will be open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. On Sunday, the show will again open at 10 a.m. and will close at 5 p.m. There will be a $1 admission charge.

The show attracts exhibitors from all over the Midwest. More than 200 booths will be open, with craftsmen featuring hand-crafted toys, furniture, wildlife art and wood carving tools. Several of the exhibitors have received national awards and recognition for their craftsmanship and knowledge of wood carving, and a few have participated in international competitions in Europe.

Each of the booths will feature sales of the handwork. Many of the participants also offer helpful advice for novice wood carvers or anyone with an interest in beginning this craft as a hobby or profession.

IT'S BEGINNING TO LOOK A LOT LIKE CHRISTMAS...

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

The Christmas Season is rapidly approaching, and our City is without traditional Christmas decorations that many other communities enjoy. We received adverse comments from St. Louis News Media last year because of lack of community spirit or interest in the traditional observance of the Holiday Season. It appears that the absence of a central organizer to bring together the parties that could provide the resources to purchase and manage such a project may have been the problem rather than the lack of community spirit or interest.

Your local Chamber of Commerce and City Government are offering to be the organizer and catalyst for a fund drive to purchase decorations for the Central Downtown business district along Nameoki Road, Johnson Road, Fehling Road, and the from Madison Ave. to Cleveland Ave.

We are proposing to purchase street banners depicting the Christmas season to be mounted on street light poles by means of a pair of steel brackets. The banners would be put in place and removed for storage by corporations who desired. The brackets once attached to the street light poles would remain in place and might be useful for other seasonal celebrations. It is estimated that there are 250 suitable locations in the areas described.

Corporations, clubs, organizations and individual citizens of Granite City will be asked to contribute to this effort as well as businesses and professions located in the two areas mentioned. In order to be successful, there must be strong participation from the business and professional community. Please indicate your level of support by purchasing one or more sets of banners and mounting brackets.

Check the appropriate number and drop in the return mail so we may be able to move forward with this project in time for this Christmas Season.

Sincerely

Briefly

Auto Club survey shows

Car maintenance woes

Maintenance problems are common for most cars, according to a survey compiled from vehicles inspected by the Auto Club's Diagnostic Services. The decline in the number of full-service gas stations, increasing complexities of automotive technology, shortage of trained mechanics, and an aging vehicle population all contribute to the decline in car maintenance. Many motorists believe that new systems on modern cars are maintenance-free as indicated in the extent of car maintenance problems. The Club's survey shows:

1 in 5 cars

have worn tires or low tire pressure

- low air
- bad tires

1 in 2 cars

have low fluid levels

- transmission
- brake
- engine oil
- coolant

1 in 3 cars

have dirty battery terminals

- terminals
- battery bad
- deficient starting and charging system

1 in 4 cars

have defective drive belts

- bad belts
- loose belts

4 in 5 cars

are not operating at peak engine efficiency

- air filter
- emission devices
- mechanical problems
- timing adjustments
- timing advance
- spark plugs/wires
- idle emissions

Auto Club has tips booklet

The AAA-Auto Club of Missouri's offering motorists tips on car care, pamphlets on proper maintenance and a free guide to gasoline saving tips.

"Your car is probably one of the most expensive investments of your life, perhaps second only to your home," said Wayne Young, the Auto Club's director of membership services. "Yet its care often falls way behind home maintenance on your list of priorities."

"Today's cars are far superior to those of the '70s, and they are more forgiving of maintenance neglect than their predecessors. Motorists, however, have been lulled into complacency by the concept of low-maintenance cars that can prove costly," Young said.

The AAA-Auto Club of Missouri is also providing free copies of a easy guide to preventive maintenance for the self-service gas customer, and other helpful guides to car maintenance.

To receive the literature, send a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to: AAA Car Care, 12901 North Forty Drive, St. Louis, Mo. 63141.

Weiss a top salesman

Charles Ray Weiss, district manager in Granite City for The Franklin, Springfield, Ill., has qualified for one of the company's top sales awards, according to Franklin President John C. Watson, CLU.

Watson stated that Weiss qualified for membership in Franklin's Key Club, comprising a select group of company associates who produce extremely high personal sales within a 60-day period.

Weiss' honor club achievement will be featured in The Franklin "Field", the company's national publication.

The 106-year-old Franklin is one of the world's largest life insurance institutions, with assets in excess of $4 billion and over $25 billion of insurance in force.

Pair join Century 21/Royce

D.L. Coppedge, an experienced real estate agent, has joined Century 21/Royce Realty Inc. in Granite City.

In addition, Dennis Holloway has also joined Royce.

Holloway has been a resident of Granite City since 1963, and graduated from Granite City High School in 1969. He was a member of the International Union of Operating Engineers and has belonged to some of this area's steelworker locals.

Doctor retiring from practice

Dr. Harold E. Toussaint is retiring from practice of obstetrics-gynecology, due to medical reasons.

The Granite City office will be open for inquiries and correspondence until Dec. 31.

Toussaint said he wanted to thank "the many loyal patients and friends who have made the practice meaningful these past 25 years. A special thanks to the office staff, Peggy, Claudette, and June who have worked so diligently."

Surprise, surprise Raising kids still very expensive

By Roger McGrath

Correspondent

ST. LOUIS — This truth is self-evident: Raising kids is expensive.

How expensive? A youngster born last year to area parents earning $23,200 to $46,700 will cost an average of $199,560 through high school graduation, according to a recent federal government study. Families who earn more than $46,700 will spend an average of $278,730, while families earning less than $23,200 will fork out an average of $143,690.

Those totals are the projected costs for raising just one child. And the study leaves out the biggest single expense—a college education, says George Walton, a stockbroker in the Frontenac office of A.G. Edwards & Sons Inc.

Costs continue to climb. "Prices in general rise each year, as do individuals' wages," says Rick Chaney, economics professor at St. Louis University.

Inflation is the wild card in these calculations. "Who knows what the inflation rate's going to be 20 years from now," says Chris Varvares, an economist with Laurence H. Mayer & Associates in Clayton.

The Family Economics Research Group of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which conducted the annual study, estimates 6 percent inflation annually through 2006, the year most 1989 babies will graduate from high school.

Without inflation, if last year's prices remained unchanged into the next century, average child-rearing costs for lower-income parents would be $20,940, not the inflation-adjusted $143,690; middle-income costs would spend $112,880, not the inflation-adjusted $199,560; high-income parents would spend $158,100, not the inflation-adjusted $278,730.

Walton uses the "Theory of 72." Dividing the expected annual inflation rate into 72 yields the number of years it will take for today's costs to double. At 3 percent inflation, prices would double in eight years.

For example, what if a 1989 baby wants to attend Purdue University? Walton figures he will spend $14,000 sending his oldest daughter to the Indiana school this year. If college costs continue to climb 7 percent a year, those costs will double by the year 2000 (72 divided by 7 equals 10 years), and double again by 2010. So the 1989 baby's senior year will cost $56,000, Walton says.

To afford an education at a Missouri or Illinois state university, parents of must save at least $250 a month for each

Written absence policy the rule, not exception

Although none of the companies surveyed require a note from Mom, 57.3 percent do use a written absence control program for their office staff, according to The Management Association's Personnel Practices Survey.

Only one-fourth (25.4 percent) have a no fault/excuse policy.

Three-fourths (76.6 percent) require a doctor's statement for absences, and half (51.2 percent) do not verify the doctor's statement. Nine-out-of-10 firms use verbal (91.5 percent) and written (93.4 percent) warnings as disciplinary steps in their policy; suspension is used as a disciplinary step by two-thirds (66.8 percent) and discharge is used by 82.3 percent.

One or less is the allowable number of absences per month according to 78.9 percent of the respondents. Seven-out-of-10 firms give no reward for good attendance.

Eight-out-of-ten (80 percent) firms that have a reward program base it on one year, most (96.6 percent) on the calendar year.

The Personnel Practices Survey represents responses from nearly 400 Illinois firms. This survey indicates trends in personnel policies and benefits.

Results are divided into six major categories: pay practices; working conditions; health and welfare benefits; recruitment, training and development; employee/community relations; and labor relations.

The Management Association of Illinois is a not-for-profit association providing 2,000 member companies in Illinois with human resource studies, wage and salary surveys, labor law information, consulting, lobbying and training.

child, financial planners say.

USDA economist Mark Lino, using various government and private studies, calculated child-rearing costs for the study in the following categories: housing, food, transportation, clothing, health, and the all-inclusive education, child care and other.

Spending on necessities can vary by income.

The lower-income family will spend $980 feeding a 10-year-old this year, the high-income family will spend $500 more, according to Lino's analysis. On clothing, lower-income families will spend $390, middle-income $490 and high income $590.

The biggest differences are in housing, transportation and education/child care. High-income parents of a 10-year-old spend more than twice as much on housing, $3,060, as lower-income parents, $1,490, and 52 percent more than middle income parents, $2,010.

Spending differences are widest in the education/child care category, which includes school tuition, day care and babysitting costs, and child-development costs, such as sports and music lessons. The 10-year-old will cost the lower income family $590 this year, middle income $970, high income $1,560.

Costs at a licensed day-care facility in the St. Louis area can be as low as $40 a week for older youngsters, and as high as $120 for infants, says Pam Paffett, director of child-care resource and referral at the Child Day Care Association.

Child-development activities can be expensive. A year of beginner piano lessons at the St. Louis Conservatory and School for the Arts costs $500. Advanced lessons plus incidentals such as purchase of music, easily approach $1,000, says Sheila Ryerson, assistant to the dean.

Gymnastics lessons at Scott's Gymnasium in south St. Louis County can cost the beginner $264 for a year; the dedicated student, who trains six hours per week, can spend $912, not counting apparel.

Child-rearing Costs

The cost of raising one child from birth through age 17 in urban areas of the Midwest. Figures are for middle income families ($28,200-$46,700) and are given in 1989 dollars.

TOTAL: $112,980

Rick Tucker Graphic

Some parents really do not notice child-rearing expenses until the offspring gets a driver's license, Walton says. A year of automobile insurance for a part-time 16-year-old costs $600, while $1,000-plus "isn't unheard of" for a full-time teenage driver, says Jeff Stoll, a Florissant-based agent for Allstate Insurance Co.

Clothing expenses can be an eye-opener, too. The USDA study notes significant increases beginning at age 12 when clothing costs jump at least 60 percent.

Even that number—clothes for a 17-year-old will cost the lower-income family $610 this year, middle income $760, high income $900—understates actual expenditures, Lino says. Those totals reflect only family expenditures they do not include the teenager's allowance or part-time earnings spent on apparel.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTION 8 OF ARTICLE IX (DELINQUENT TAX SALES) EXPLANATION OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT

The proposed Amendment deals with the problem of tax sale delinquency on commercial, industrial, vacant non-farm, and large multi-unit residential properties. The Amendment has no effect on single family homes, farm land, or apartment buildings of 4 units or less.

The Amendment would permit the legislature to reduce the redemption period following a tax sale of commercial, industrial, vacant non-farm or multi-unit residential property. The redemption period is the period of time the delinquent owner has following a tax sale to pay the delinquent taxes and prevent the transfer of title to a new owner.

Under the Amendment the legislature could reduce the redemption period on the specified classes of property from 2 years to 6 months if the property is 2 or more years delinquent. Currently the Illinois Constitution permits a shorter redemption period only if the property is 5 or more years delinquent. The Amendment would also allow a one year redemption period, rather than the current 2 years, if these properties are tax delinquent for at least one year.

Illinois law already provides for multiple notices to delinquent owners and court procedures before a tax deed can be obtained. This Amendment would not change these protective policies or court procedures.

Punch the number opposite "YES" or "NO" to indicate your choice.

FOR THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTION 8 OF ARTICLE IX OF THE CONSTITUTION TO AUTHORIZE THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO REDUCE THE REDEMPTION PERIOD FOLLOWING TAX SALES ON DELINQUENT COMMERCIAL, INDUSTRIAL, VACANT NON-FARM AND LARGE MULTIFAMILY RESIDENTIAL PROPERTIES ONLY.

VOTER INSTRUCTIONS

To cast a STRAIGHT PARTY VOTE, punch the number beside the name of the party of your choice. A STRAIGHT PARTY VOTE casts a vote for every candidate of that party. (To complete voting, turn to the Judicial Retention and the Proposition pages and vote as desired.)

You may SPLIT your vote by punching a STRAIGHT PARTY number and CROSSING OVER for candidates of another party or for independents. However, to SPLIT your vote in contests where more than one candidate is to be elected and the states are full for the parties involved, you must punch for each candidate of your choice. (To complete voting, turn to the Judicial Retention and Proposition pages and vote as desired.)

If you DO NOT wish to cast a STRAIGHT PARTY VOTE, please continue to the individual offices, Judicial Retention and Proposition pages.
